REMARKS:

1. I just had a telephone call from Clarke Galloway (former Colonel, Cavalry Reserve) who had an important position in MIS throughout the war. He is now on the staff of "World Report", a news periodical of foreign affairs. His present telephone number is DI 2900, Extension 302.

2. Col. Galloway states that his magazine formerly subscribed to the analysis of foreign broadcasts and news put out by the FCC. He states that this service has recently been discontinued, and that he understands the C.I.G. will perform the foreign broadcast intelligence service function hereafter. He states that the service was an exceedingly valuable source which he would like to continue receiving, if possible. He asked if, without giving him any classified information, I could tell him what he might expect.

3. I told Col. Galloway that I could not answer his question, but I would attempt to secure an authorized answer or designate someone who could discuss the matter with him.

4. It is believed best that someone representing the Director in a public relations

Acting Deputy Chief, Central Planning Staff

Tell Galloway that War Dept still has it, and that we do not know what future arrangements will be. Suggest he direct his inquiries to War Dept agency handling it.
~~as long as it remains in War Dept~~
We are not controlling or handling it.
